CQG Adds NASDAQ OMX Nordic Market Data

Denver, CO, January 25, 2010 – CQG, Inc., the industry-leading order execution, charting, and analytics provider for global electronically-traded futures markets, today announced that it is expanding its offering by adding market data for NASDAQ OMX Nordic derivatives.

CQG's new market coverage includes futures, options, and cash quotes on the OMX Stockholm 30 Index, OMX Copenhagen 20 Index, OMX Stockholm Benchmark GI, and VINX 30 Index. Customers can access real-time and historical Nordic data on the CQG Integrated Client platform. Trading access to NASDAQ OMX Nordic derivatives is scheduled for later this year.

"The Nordic Derivatives Market is the third-largest market place for derivatives by volume in Europe, and CQG is pleased to be able to provide our customers access to this market data," said Rod Giffen, Global Head of Sales and Support at CQG. "NASDAQ OMX Nordic derivatives data is an important addition to our global data feed."

CQG's Nordic market coverage now includes the popular regional index products as well as both market data and trading access to the Nord Pool power market. CQG's high-speed market data feed delivers real-time and historical data from over one hundred global sources.

"We applaud CQG for adding market data for NASDAQ OMX Nordic derivatives to its Integrated Client platform," said Randall Hopkins, Senior Vice President, NASDAQ OMX Global Data Products. "This action indicates CQG is responsive to customer demand for greater market transparency. We look forward to continuing to collaborate with CQG as it offers trading access to NASDAQ OMX Nordic Derivatives later this year."
